Enzyme catalysis is the increase in the rate of a chemical reaction by the active site of a protein. The protein catalyst may be part of a multi-subunit complex, and/or may transiently or permanently associate with a Cofactor (e.g. adenosine triphosphate). Catalysis of biochemical reactions in the cell is vital due to the very low reaction rates of the uncatalysed reactions at room temperature ...

Anabolic steroids, also known more properly as anabolic-androgenic steroids (AAS), are steroidal androgens that include natural androgens like testosterone as well as synthetic androgens that are structurally related and have similar effects to testosterone. They are anabolic and increase protein within cells, especially in skeletal muscles, and also have varying degrees of androgenic and ...

D-galactose is the artificial senescence drug to induce aging process. D-galactose induces brain aging via mitochondrial dysfunction. Various interventions could reverse D-galactose induced brain aging.

Reprogramming of endogenous mouse alpha cells into functional beta cells, which significantly delays diabetes onset in autoimmune diabetic mice, and the successful reprogramming of human alpha cells into beta cells with the same strategy represent a promising way for treating type 1 diabetes.

Significance. There is a strong need for the development of new antiviral therapies, and this study sheds light on a host-virus interaction that is significant for a number of medically important human viruses.

Results. Here we show that PRCP is expressed in NPY/AgRP-expressing neurons of the arcuate nucleus. In hypothalamic explants, stimulation by ghrelin increased PRCP concentration in the medium and decreased PRCP content in synaptic extract, suggesting that PRCP is released at the synaptic level.

The Greenland and Antarctic ice sheets have decreased in mass. Data from NASA's Gravity Recovery and Climate Experiment show Greenland lost an average of 281 billion tons of ice per year between 1993 and 2016, while Antarctica lost about 119 billion tons during the same time period.
